

Project Kahn Plays with the smart fortwo

10/08/2011 20:21 by admin

When you say Project Kahn, a beefed-up Range Rover (Sport) is what usually comes next. Sleek exteriors, seriously transformed interiors or tech mods, this tuning really knows how to play with British SUVs. However, the aftermarket developer has recently decided to use another approach.

So, what does this exactly mean? Well, it's simple: the tuner has released an exterior modification package for the... smart fortwo.

As you can see in the adjacent image, we are dealing with a special body [...]

Source: autoevolution