

Piecha Design Gives Mercedes-Benz SL R230 a Makeover

19/08/2011 18:55 by admin

German tuner Piecha Design has introduced a new package for all SL R230 models starting at the March 2008 facelift. The might be a new SL coming soon to replace the aging beast, but there's no reason that aftermarket specialists can't breath new life into the current design to keep it relevant a bit longer.

The kit offers special build-in housings with LED daytime lights and the fog lamp. They can be sent to you in a ready built kit state and fit both the serial bumper and the AMG bumper of t... [...]

Source: autoevolution