

In the Spotlight: How to Overkill a Ferrari 458 Italia

24/08/2011 04:27 by admin

Electric lamps are so passé these days. The way of the future is LEDs or Light-emitting diodes that can be found just about everywhere. Lately, LEDs have taken the automotive industry by storm with carmakers offering them either optionally or standard on most of their models. But it's not only regular carmakers that have adopted the new lighting technology; so has the tuning industry which discovered a new toy to attract consumers. The results, as you can see from this example of a Ferrari 458 Italia slathered in LEDs, aren't always graceful. Video follows after the break.[...]

Source: Carscoop