

Classy Meets Rugged With Vilner's Land Rover Defenders

25/08/2011 12:09 by admin

There used to be a time when Land Rover only made rugged off-roaders for the gentleman who wanted to go off the beaten track, but now we have the Evoque, and the brand image has changed beyond all recognition.

However, we have to ask ourselves what would happen if you mixed the muscular body of an out-doorsman and a party tuxedo. Well, with a little help from tuning specialists Vilner, the rugged looks of the venerable Land Rover Defender have cleaned up nicely. It's almost as if this is a ri... [...]

Source: autoevolution