

JM Cardesign Customizes the Old BMW Z4

06/09/2011 16:05 by admin

Some would claim that the Bangle-era Z4 is one of the most unlikable cars out there, but we rather like its strange appearance and think the coupe version is one of the hottest things with four wheels made at the time.

We were of course happy to find out that JM Cardesign from Bergheim, Germany, have turned their attention to the old Z4. Basically, they fitted the old car with bits of the new one at the front to create a sort of cross-generations hybrid model from hell. The front bumper and [...]

Source: autoevolution