The BMW M3 GTS is a track beast that will bite your head off and make you fall in love with it at the same time. However, the guys at CLP Automotive have has the courage to look the car in the eye CUT headlamp and tell her that it's not good enough for them. The result? The M3 Interceptor, a tuning development that has it all.

First of all, under the bonnet, we get a supercharger, a new exhaust system coming from Akrapovic and, of course, an ECU remap to handle of the new tech goodies. What [...]
