

Ferrari 458 Italia Partially Chromed by Cam Shaft [Photo Gallery]

08/09/2011 19:25 by admin

When talking about chromed Ferraris, the aftermarket projects brought to life in the United Arab Emirates immediately come to mind, but unfortunately, good taste isn't exactly the next thing that pops up into your head.

However, it seems that a German aftermarket developer called Cam Shaft is offering us such a creation that is radically different to everything we've seen before. The tuner has added chrome foil to the roof, winglets, as well as to the rear diffuser, while also gifting the car... [...]

Source: autoevolution