

Eterniti Hemera Photos Released - Based on Porsche Cayenne

09/09/2011 15:36 by admin

The new British automotive company Eterniti Motors will introduce a prototype of its first vehicle at the upcoming Frankfurt Auto Show and we are now being offered the first complete images of the car.

Dubbed Hemera, this is claimed to be the worlds first super-SUV. It will be hand built in London, promising to give us a spacious rear cabin that uses twin reclining electric seats, iPdas, as well as a drink chiller.

Under the hood, we'll get 620 hp, which will be sent to the road via an al... [...]

Source: autoevolution