

Techart Renders Its 2012 Porsche 911 Project for Next Geneva Show

12/09/2011 20:10 by admin

The internet is bucking under the pressure of tuned car that are coming to this year's Frankfurt Auto Show. But we can't help feeling a little sad for the guys that would have loved to play with the new 911. Fear not, their time will come, but in the meantime, one company has taken the mouse and keyboard in hand and rendered what they had in mind for the sportscar.

We're not accustomed to the new body of the car, but it looks like the bumper has been heavily modified and extended, as the line... [...]

Source: autoevolution