Top car is a tuning company that doesn't put a lot of projects on the table, but when they do, it's something special. Just take a look at what they did with the Panamera, and you'll get what we mean and also what's coming for the new 911 that's just hit the Frankfurt Auto Show.

The Russians have released a rendering of what's to come. The car will get some widening bits, the same sort of wheels they put on the Panamera and even a new set of LEDs. Basically, it makes the car look a bit like [...]
