

Kicherer Mercedes ML63 AMG Carbon Series Released

22/09/2011 12:00 by admin

A new generation of the Mercedes ML is here, but until its AMG version enters stage, tuning companies have to make due with the outgoing one. This is exactly what German aftermarket developer Kicherer has done, releasing a modification package for the ML63 AMG.

The project uses the Carbon Series designation, with the car being wrapped in carbon fiber foil and coming with smoked taillights and dark tinted windows. The vehicle rides on 23-inch alloy rims, which use a five-spoke design, come in ... (read more)

Source: autoevolution