They guys over at Advance One Wheels recently promised us that they'll give the world a Ferrari Enzo wheel job and here they are, telling us the story of how they shoed the Prancing Horse.

Ladies and gentlefans, the Enzo you are looking at is rolling on centerlock hub, three-piece ADV5.2SL rims, a custom version of an existing model, which come in a 21x13 size for the rear axle (with 375/20 Pirelli rubber) and in a 20x8.5 size for the front one.

ADV.1 tells us that they usually test a cer... [...]
