

speedART Targets the Porsche Panamera Diesel

28/09/2011 16:36 by admin

One the most-sought after Porsche models right now is an oil-burner, so it's only natural that tuners want a piece of the action.

The German aftermarket specialists at speedART have gotten tired of waiting around for the new 911 to arrive in their parking lot, ready to receive a magic touch, so they've done something special with the Porsche Panamera Diesel with a number of changes.

The models include an aero-look and a power kit that boosts the engine to 300 horsepower. The aesthetic [...]

Source: autoevolution