Tuning company Prior Design is literally staying true to its name, releasing a modification package for the... prior to the facelift fifth generation Ford Mustang. The pony car has received exterior package, a new set of rims, as well as a stainless steel exhaust system.

The car is now even more aggressive, but without taking things too far. However, we do feel that the modern tuning lines of the body kit are at the limit of interfering with the retro styling cues of the car.

The list of [...]
