The downsizing trend means that we won't see a V6 engine dropped in a hot hatch anytime soon, so all we can do to enjoy such goodies is to look in the past. Add in some explosive tech tuning and you've got a recipe for top thrills.

Let us give you an example: the vehicle you see in the adjacent images, which have arrived via luxury4play, seem to give us Golf R32, a car gifted with a V6 unit by the factory. However, the owner chooses to bring the car to an insane power level, heavily modifying [...]
