Hyundai has a long tradition of teaming up with customizers ARK Performance in order to bring something special to the SEMA show in Las Vegas, and this year they've done something radical and wild.

It's a new Hyundai Veloster 1.6-liter that gets custom twin-scroll turbocharging for a total output of 210 horsepower. ARK Performance has also gone to town on the body, creating this very bright paintwork that mixes shades of gray with bright green.

We're not really that impressed with the [...]
