

Porsche 911 Engine Tuning Screaming Revs [Video]

02/10/2011 18:19 by admin

The world may be focused on the new 991 incarnation of the Porsche 911, but this doesn't mean that the previous generations have been forgotten. To demonstrate that, we'll give you a video of a serious tuning project based on the 996 generation of the 911 (we are taking you two generations back here).

US tuning company BBi Autosport has taken a 996 911 to its Southern California-based shop and started playing with its engine.

This isn't a piece of news about numbers and on-paper details. [...]

Source: autoevolution