Earlier today, we showed you what Russians think the Porsche Panamera should be customized like: using crocodile leather and gold for the interior. However, this piece of news, which also comes from Russia, brings gold to the outside of a car.

Don't worry, we'll be staying in the 500 hp area, as we are talking about an E60 BMW M5, which has been given a golden finish. The car has been fitted with tinted windows and dark-finished rims, which create a strong contrast with the body's color.[...]
