

Romeo Ferraris Abarth Cinquone Stradale Released

10/10/2011 16:16 by admin

We're upset, very upset: Italian aftermarket specialist has officially released its replica of the Abarth 500 racecar, but the Carmageddon-inspired rear wing we were so enthusiastic about didn't make it to the street.

Dubbed Abarth Cinquone Stradale, the pocket rocket manages to squeeze 300 hp out of its tiny 1.4-liter turbocharged engine.

The aforementioned wing might not have made it, but rest of the car's visual elements are just as loud. We are dealing with a widebody kit, a modified [...]

Source: autoevolution