Last time we checked, Fiat was complaining about the poor sales of the 500 model in the US. We might have a solution for the carmaker: how about this 1955 Fiat 500 CUT 600 with a Honda 1000rr engine in it? Mass-produce this and you might register crazy sales levels!

Of course, this is an eBay find, but let's get into the details. The vehicle is street legal (even though the owner explains that it is more suitable for the track), with its 170hp engine being centrally-mounted (take that Porsche... [...])
