Hofele Design is a German tuner with a taste for the slightly strange, and their latest project for the Audi A saloon proves this to some extent. The SR8 packages brings both styling and performance modification to the luxury boat.

The exterior boasts a new body kit which consists of a new bumper with the side air intakes and mesh taken from the RS5. Round the back, there's a new apron with a diffuser and space for quad tailpipes, side skirts and a boot lid spoiler.

The wheel choices are [...]
