Have you ever seen one of those comics where a superhero takes on the power of another one to become even more super? We haven't either, but the latest project from UK tuner Project Kahn is exactly that - even more super than the Brabus Mercedes Benz SLK.

The SLK 200 in question had already been fitted with plenty of cool kit, but that hasn't stopped British designer Afzal Kahn from adding even more stuff, like his own wheels and some custom nose trim.

The car now sports a set of [...]
