

Porsche Panamera Stingray GTR with Crocodile and Gold Interior

14/10/2011 22:38 by admin

In an industry where tuning programs happen far more often than we can count, there are still some projects that are bound to surprise. Like, say, this Porsche Panamera Turbo S whose interior has been dressed up unlike anything we've ever seen before. Already boasting of TopCar's Stingray GTR wide bodykit and a flashy set of ADV.1 wheels, the interior of this Panamera was taken to a whole new level with solid gold and genuine crocodile leather. Take a look at the photos of the interior and you'll see the extensive detail given to it. Some poor crocodile contributed to the dash dressed in its leather while a number of items inside, including the pedals, the knobs, and the transmission are all made from gold.[...]

Source: topspeed