SEMA Show is not just for American tuners and their tuning packages. Wald International, the famous Japanese tuner has also confirmed their presence in Las Vegas with a tuning package based on the Mercedes-Benz R230 SL-Class. The model will be displayed courtesy of U.S. distributor Jonari Corporation. The tuner said nothing about an engine upgrade, but the exterior has been heavily modified. Not in the best way if you ask us. However, the aerodynamic package includes: a front bumper fascia, front sports fenders, side skirts, rear bumper fascia, quarter panel wheel arch extensions and a trunk spoiler.[...]
