BMW's M division has chosen the M3 DTM as its latest accessory showcase, with the carmaker introducing the M Performance Accessories M3 DTM in the 2012 livery.

The vehicle, which wears the traditional M colors, was introduced at a special event held by BMW in Heidelberg, Germany, last week. In addition to that, the car was present at the last race of the 2011 DTM season, which was held at Hockenheim ring over the weekend.

"Old-school DTM fans will recognize from the typical BMW M stripe...[...]
