

Mercedes G55 AMG on ADV.1 Concave Wheels in Switzerland

25/10/2011 17:32 by admin

Our spy photographers keep sending in new shots of AMG's next take on the Mercedes G-Class, but until we get the new tons of fast German metal, we have to make due with what we have.

The latest G55 AMG news, brings us an example of the car that rides on a very special set of wheels. We are talking about ADV10 Deep Concave rims, which come in a 22x10-inch size, using a Brushed Gunmetal Center, with the same finish also being found on the lip and inner side of the rims. As for the part that's [...]

Source: autoevolution