

Fiat 500 Titanium and Carbon Teased Ahead of 2011 SEMA Debut

25/10/2011 22:33 by admin

Now that Fiat and Chrysler have united their destinies, the little 500, which is trying to conquer the American public, will also be brought to the upcoming SEMA event, with the Italian carmaker now teasing two custom incarnations of the car: the 500 Titanium, which you can (almost) see in the adjacent image and the 500 Carbon.

Mopar, Chrysler's parts and accessories division will bring titanium-finished exterior details, using a dark overall look. Inside the car, we'll find a pair of bucket ...[...]

Source: autoevolution