

Cadillac CTS-V V700 Sport Wagon by Hennessey

26/10/2011 03:35 by admin

Hennessey has a way of doing business that makes you want to throw money at them, especially when it deals with automotive tuning. These guys know what they're doing and if you have a car like a Cadillac CTS-V Sport Wagon and you're not satisfied with its standard specs, the right thing to do is pick up the phone and have Hennessey give it the boost you've always wanted. The American tuning company's V700 program is a good choice for that. Not only does it have a few styling tweaks to make the car a little more eye-friendly, but more importantly, it has the perfect performance improvements that can turn your CTS-V wagon from a mild-mannered family ride into a snorting piece of action-packed mayhem.[...]

Source: topspeed