If you get the approval of one Mario Andretti, then you must be doing something right. Magnaflow, a leading distributor of exhaust products, has produced a special Mario Andretti Edition of the Chevrolet Camaro SS that will be displayed at the 2011 SEMA Auto Show. The Camaro SS was modified with a plethora of aerodynamic changes that include a Street Scene-sourced carbon fiber front splitter and rear diffuser with a center exit exhaust. It also has new side skirts and a 3-piece rear wing, upper grill side ducts with a lower grill, a carbon fiber OE style hood from RKSport, and a set of 20" HRE Performance Wheels wrapped in Pirelli P-Zero tires. Inside, the Camaro SS was dressed with custom leather seat covers, head rests, arm rests, and center console, custom suede pillars, and a headliner courtesy of Bill Dunn One-Stop-Shop.[...]
