In what has become an usual move, Rhys Millen Racing has joined forces with Hyundai to give us heavily customized Genesis Coupe for the 2011 Specialty Equipment Market Association show in Las Vegas next week.

We are now treated with an Youtube video that shows us the work in progress project. The teaser clip allows us to see that the coupe will offer a roll-cage, serious engine tweaks, as well as a roll cage.

The video really reaches its aim, as being swiftly taken through the various cust... [...]
