

28/10/2011 13:00 by admin

No matter what sort of crazy car conversions you've seen so far, you are not ready to see what the Scion xB has been turned into. Basically, this funky looking creating is coming to the 2011 SEMA Show in Las Vegas bearing a body that's been what looks like fabric that's been tailored to fit it like a glove. All the glass surfaces have also received the sort of mesh wrap that you see on busses for advertising.

The Scion xB Numeric, as the vehicle is called, is a the end result of the collabora... [...]

Source: autoevolution