

Chevrolet Camaro 1LE Concept: Racing for 2011 SEMA

28/10/2011 18:03 by admin

As expected, Chevy is preparing a big party for the 2011 SEMA event, and one of the pathways that the company will use to keep us entertained will be to return to its roots.

For example, we'll receive the Camaro 1LE Concept - as some of our readers may recall, the 1LE option code was brought to the world by the Camaro's third generation and then taken even further in the fourth generation as a racing pack for the road.

We are talking about a concept, but the vehicle uses production compon... [...]

Source: autoevolution