

Mazda MX-5 Miata Spyder and Turbo2 Previewed ahead of 2011 SEMA Debut

30/10/2011 21:01 by admin

Mazda promises to bring to very sweet concepts to next week's SEMA event, with the carmaker teasing us now, even though when we're talking about developments such as a MX-5 Miata Spyder, this is not necessary to capture attention.

As you can see in the adjacent image, the MX-5 gets a sexy canvas roof, which gives it a sporty and elegant look at the same time, with the car expected to receive a set of mods that will make it lighter and more powerful. As for the second goodie that's being teas... [...]

Source: autoevolution