This piece of news is dedicated to an example of a American tuning for a German machine, with Chicago-based aftermarket specialist IND releasing an updated version of its Green Hell BMW M3 Coupe.

The vehicle was initially brought to life after a trip to Germany, which, of course, included a visit to the Nurburgring, with the project being a tribute for the famous German track, as BMWblog writes.

So, what does this green machine bring? It comes with series of motorsport-inspired aerodynamic... [...]
