

Mugen Presents Body Kit For the New Accord

14/01/2009 09:17 by Tuning - AutoEvolution

Mugen are quick to make tuning kits and we can see that because they released an all new one for the fresh out of the box new Honda Accord.

They presented a grey car with a meaty body upgrade that makes the car more massive in a sporty manner. This new creation is also available for the Tourer (station-wagon) variants of the vehicle and the looks make this car worth having.

On the outside there is a full body kit that contains front and rear under spoilers, 'aero' b...

Source: Tuning - AutoEvolution