

Suzuki Grand Vitara Marine Concept Ready for 2011 SEMA

01/11/2011 17:52 by admin

In an effort to bring Suzuki's automotive and outboard maritime motors divisions together, the students at the Ohio Technical College (OTC) have developed the Suzuki Grand Vitara Marine Concept, a development that is being displayed at this year's SEMA event.

We are dealing with a Grand Vitara that has had its roof chopped off and now comes with boat-like side windows, serious off-road tires, a boat-style radar arch, a nautical paint job and a... outboard engine strapped to its rear end.[...]

Source: autoevolution