Hyundai brought over a total of five concept vehicles to this year's SEMA Show and one of them targets the Genesis Coupe. The two-door has received a supercharger for its 3.8-liter V6 and a bunch of other tech mods in order to boost the power to 450 hp. It looks like this isn't just another custom job, as it preview an actual production version in some way shape or form.

Added performance kit for the SC include 19-inch Enkei rims wrapped in Hankook runner, a Bilstein suspension, Brembo brakes,... [...]
