

BBR Takes Mazda3 MPS to 350 HP

03/11/2011 16:15 by admin

Look at it from a distance and you'll think it's just another five-door hatch, but come a bit closer and the Mazda3 MPS starts to look a bit like a kipper wale on steroids. Despite not benefiting from a major rethink in a long time, the MPS still has a lot of fans in the hothatch industry, and it's time to look at a tuning project that could change the game.

BBR is a Mazda tuner that has just revealed a bunch of changes for the 3 that can take the output of the 2.3-liter all the way to 350 hp... [...]

Source: autoevolution