Brabus has prepared two new development for the 2011 Dubai Motor Show, which is set to open its gates on Thursday. The German aftermarket developer has released two teaser photos on its Facebook page.

The first shows a package that will deliver 800 hp and could be linked to a new incarnation of the new Brabus Rocket based on the second generation of the CLS, while the second seems to show a program based on the CL.

We can't help it admit that this kind of teasing brings sweet pain, but for... [...]
