

Porsche Panamera Cyrano by Hamann

18/11/2011 01:50 by admin

Hamann will be attending the upcoming Essen Motor Show with an upgrade package based on the Porsche Panamera Turbo. The package is called the Hamann Cyrano and includes a pretty impressive exterior package, as well as an 80 HP increase. The Cyrano package starts with a new front bumper with larger air intakes in connection with perfectly integrated daytime running lights and a redesigned bonnet that reduces the lift at the front axle. Hamann has also added 60 mm of width to the front and rear fenders to make the Panamera look even more imposing. The package continues with side skirts and a special diffuser rear apron that reduces the up-lift forces at the rear axle. A sports exhaust system with striking dual tailpipes make the Panamera a real eye catcher, and the a new set of 22" wheels combined with special suspensions or a lowering module for the air suspension finish off the overall look.[...]

Source: topspeed