We really don't know what to think, but the internet is buzzing with pictures of cars livered in the colors of the United Arab Emirates flag right now. The word on the street is that they this is happening because it's the young nation's 40th national anniversary, and fireworks alone just wouldn't cut it.... how wonderful!

Our friend 4WheelsofLux, the Dubai supercar spotter, says there's even a 40th National Day Ferrari parade coming tomorrow. How awesome is that, and how annoying is it that ... [...]
