Rinspeed is a Swiss-based automobile manufacturer and tuning designer with a very vivid imagination. Although it produces "normal" tuning products like the 600HP Porsche 911 Turbo, it is projects like the James Bond-like submersible Lotus Elise or the BamBoo EV study that are its hallmark. Now, the innovative design house is planning to launch a new "mobility concept" at the 2012 Geneva Salon next March. The "Dock+Go" is the brainchild of Frank M. Rinderknecht, who describes it as a docking "backpack on wheels".[...]
