

Brabus Tuning Overkill: Turquoise Seats in Mercedes SLK [Video]

08/12/2011 18:31 by admin

From the depths of the recent Essen International Auto Show comes this video shot by our friend JustinsSupercars, and showing a brand new customization project from Mercedes dedicated tuner, Brabus.

This particular project targets the 3.5-liter version of the new SLR roadster, adding a number of cosmetic enhancements. The strange thing about this car is that besides the black interior and paintwork, the only speck of color comes in the form of some turquoise leather trim on the seats and door... [...]

Source: autoevolution