

BMW 1M Coupe Silhouette Racer Uses Chevy V8 Engine [Video]

09/12/2011 18:44 by admin

Don't worry, this is not a BMW 1M Coupe with a Chevy V8 engine. Nobody has desecrated the smallest member of the M family. Instead, we are talking about a silhouette race car that was created by French racing team Global Concept Automobile.

The racer, called GC10-V8 (we must thank for jonsibal.com for the scoop), might use a body that makes it look like a 1M, but under the skin, we have a tubular space chassis built using the FIA standards, so there is nothing Bavarian about it. For example,...[...]

Source: autoevolution