

Two-Tone Auto Avio Alfa 159 Is Perfect

23/12/2011 21:34 by admin

The Italians love making good compromises, and the Alfa Romeo 159 is one of the best examples. Sure, the front end makes it very un-aerodynamic, but when it was launched it looked way cooler than boring Germans saloons of its age.

This project comes not from an upstart tuner, but from Auto Avio Construzioni, and it puts the Alfa four-door in the best light possible. Carscoop reminds us that this is the second 159 tuned by the brand, though this has even more passion in its color.

The two-t... [...]

Source: autoevolution