

Mopar Dodge Challenger With Halo Lights [Video]

24/01/2012 18:00 by admin

The tuning industry is filled with huge body kits that completely screw up the proportions of a car. Honesty, when it car design automakers should know best, but that doesn't stop people from trying to stand out. However, a well done, subtle conversion is a thing of beauty.

All you need is tinted windows, maybe a lowering kit and some big wheels. And we've always been keen on flat of satin black wheels with a strip on the lip in the same color as the body. This works especially well with red... [...]

Source: autoevolution