Car wraps have been gathering more and more fans over the last few years and now this has become a clear pathway in the tuning world. We usually give you the finished product, but now we want to show you how the magic is worked during such a project.

The adjacent image gallery shows us how a Lamborghini Gallardo LP560-4 Spyder goes from its red factory stock color to matt black. The conversion was performed by US aftermarket company Clearly Exotic, with the customer opting for a full wrap.[...]
