

Edo Competition Drifting Photo Shoot

31/01/2012 14:35 by admin

Edo Competition is an aftermarket developer that likes to play with some of the most powerful beasts the auto industry offers to the public. However, from time to time, the company takes short brakes in which it demonstrates the abilities of its products.

Edo recently took the time to enjoy such an initiative, with the tuner holding a drifting session that involved its cars. As you can see in the adjacent images, which were taken by automotive photographer Philip Lucke, Edo-tuned versions of ...[...]

Source: autoevolution