Hennessey Performance announced it is working on a HPE800 Twin Turbo package for the McLaren MP4-12C. As its name says, the package will bring the British supercar to 800 hp, a hefty increase from its factory 608 hp.

All the extra power also has to be tamed, so the US tuner will also offer an aerodynamic package with pretty serious downforce additions, with the goodies using carbon fiber to keep the weight down.

Here's what Hennessey will gift the supercar's 3.8-liter V6 with:[...]
