Last year SR Auto Group has unveiled a pretty cool tuning kit based on the Ferrari 458 Italia called Project Zeus. This year the tuner turned their attention back to the 458 Italia and they came up with an even cooler kit for it, this time called Project Era. As you know, despite the fact that the 458 Italia is being offered in lots of colors, Rosso Corsa is just the perfect color for it, and this is the color used for project Era. Next to this SR is also using a new set of wheels in PUR 1NE design. The new wheels are painted either in silver finish combined with a unique blue sheen and are offered from twenty-one and twenty-two inches. There are some cars that require a lot of work to stand out from the rest, but the 458 Italia is simply not a car like this. Just some minor modifications made it look amazing.[....]
